

Resources

FilmL.A. This is the agency that issues filming permits for much of Los Angeles County. Their website has information for film makers and for communities. Call them to get help with a problem or to register a complaint.

www.FilmLA.com 213-977-8600

Los Angeles County Department of Public Works. If parking conditions are being violated during a film shoot, staff at DPW can help. Speak with John Lovrensky, who gives DPW approval of filming permit conditions, at (office) 626-338-9515, or (cell) 626-607-7582. After hours, call the County Help Line at 626-458-4357. This line is available 24/7. This is a hotline, a dispatch. Say the word “permit” to help direct your call. This is actually a hotline for anything related to the County.

The California Film Commission. Everything you might want to know about filming in California.

www.film.ca.gov